

The EuroIndia Summit

Expected benefits for civic delegates to the Summit and Mission

Indian and European civic delegates, be it from the federal, State or municipal level, are central to the Summit and the following Mission, as they are expected to be the main beneficiaries in more ways than one:

1. First-hand familiarization of their respective urban contexts, best-practices, expertise, needs and expectations through formal and informal interaction with their counterparts at the Summit and during the following Mission, through on-site visits in Spain and France and specialized events, such as Open Days 2009 and the Grand Paris exhibition.
2. Exposure to European decentralization mechanisms, new competencies, urban management with the private sector.
3. Better understanding of European approaches on sustainable guidelines in the urban regulatory framework, on how to comply with a national climate plan, energy efficiency codes, green/sustainable certifications.
4. Ideas of city to city cooperation programmes for sustainable urban planning, meeting the need of Indian cities to learn how to draft better Master Plans and 2nd generation City Development Plans.
5. Addressing a basket of short-listed municipalities keen to enter into a "Euro-Indian match".
6. Identification of urban service providers for Public Private Partnerships to match with Urban Development Agencies' needs in essential services: water, transport, waste...
7. Experience sharing on the implementation of the French N.U.R.M. and other European equivalents, the concept of urban renewal, achievements and lessons learnt and with A.D.E.M.E. and other European equivalents in sustainable urban development.
8. Promotion of Euro-Indian tie-ups for their K.I.T.E. stakeholders be it companies, academic, NGO's, etc, by stewarding a diversified city/region/State/ delegation.
9. An opportunity to present to an expert European audience Urban development plans and needs of participating States / Cities in a diverse and gradual way: lectures followed by Q&A, sector-wise workshops, one-to-one meetings and informal interaction, maximizing chances to find a match to assist the said plans and/or address the said needs.
